To determine the risk of craniocerebral injuries in cyclists, driver-cyclists and pedestrians struck by a car in the city of Cologne. Data was collected by 12 police officers working at the scene of the accident, using a standardized protocol. After the accident medical and transport records were analyzed, including clinical and radiological findings, as well as the use of protective devices. In the year 2000, a total of 141 head injuries were recorded (43 cyclists, 75 drivers/cyclists, 13 pedestrians), of which 67 (47.5%) had been admitted to hospital. According to the data of emergency doctors, 5 (4.2%) patients had suffered an intracranial injury. Another 31 patients presented with minor symptoms, presumably caused by musculoskeletal injuries. The incidence of intracranial injuries was almost three times higher in cyclists (9.6%) than in pedestrians (3.2%) or driver-cyclists (3.7%). However, the most severe injuries (GCS Q: how to add a constant column in a vector in matlab I would like to add a constant column in a vector. How can I do that? Example: v1=[1
