Hi, whoever is interested in Chinese picture painting and Chinese picture painting masters can open a new forum about Chinese picture painting on Sulpt Club, you can find a lot of Chinese picture painting masters to learn Chinese picture painting and get some Chinese picture painting advise from them. I agree with you both on some points. I think a very open source forum is better than one that is limited in one area of knowledge. Since many of the members who are into Chinese picture painting are familiar with all three mediums, they may be able to have a forum in Chinese picture painting to post pictures and discussions on the subject as well as a forum for those who are only into Chinese picture painting. I think a board in Chinese picture painting for those who like Chinese picture painting and those who like Chinese picture painting and Chinese picture painting masters can learn from each other is more useful to the community. If you want to learn Chinese quickly, then you must study English and Chinese. teaching to learn is good. If you do not know the time and place of your learning, it is not easy to learn Chinese. It is very difficult to learn Chinese. No, teaching to learn is bad. It is only bad if you do not know the time and place. If you know the time and place and don't go, it 82157476af
